THE PROOF BUILDER SHEET

5 pieces for building trust when you have no clients yet, plus a worksheet.

This is my own planner for building trust when you have no clients yet. No one can promise income, and results depend on your effort, your market and your timing. Follow the rules of any platform you use, work only with clients who agree to a clear scope and price in writing, and ask a professional about legal or tax questions. The five pieces and the worksheet pages are my own.

THE 5 PIECES

1. A sample project. Do a small practice project for yourself and label it clearly as a sample.
2. A short case study. Describe the problem, what you did and what you learned.
3. Honest feedback. After real work, ask the client for feedback in their own words.
4. A simple profile page. Put your samples, your offer and how to reach you in one place.
5. Regular useful posts. Share what you learn so people see you showing up.

HONEST PROOF RULES

- Samples are labeled as samples
- I have permission to share any work
- I never invent a review
- I stay truthful in every claim

Educational only. My own checklist. No results promised.
