THE SIDE HUSTLE HOURS PLANNER

5 slots for planning real hours for a side project, plus a planner.

A side project only grows if it gets real hours. No one can promise income, and every week looks different. This planner is my own idea. It is built around an honest look at your week, fixed slots in your calendar, one job per slot and a quick review every Sunday. Look after your sleep, your family and your day job first. Results vary.

THE 5 SLOTS

1. Look at your week honestly and find real free time. Count the gaps you actually have, not the ones you wish for.
2. Pick fixed times and put them in your calendar. A booked time is harder to skip.
3. Give each one a single job. One clear task per block keeps you moving.
4. Protect that time with your phone away. Tell the people around you when you are busy.
5. Review every Sunday and adjust. Move what did not work and keep what did.

Sunday

PROTECT THE SLOT

- Phone is away or on silent
- The people around me know I am busy
- I know the one job for this slot
- Everything I need is ready before I start

SUNDAY REVIEW

Week	Slots kept	What got done	What I will change
