

THE $0 AI FAMILY TREE KIT

Every ChatGPT prompt to build your family tree in about ten minutes

Run these in order, in the same ChatGPT chat, so it remembers everything you tell it. Treat what it finds as leads: check each fact against the original record before you add it to your tree. Names and dates in old records are often spelled differently.

BEFORE YOU START

- Write down what you know: parents, grandparents, birthdays, and where each person was born.
- Ask an older relative for one name or date you are missing. One answer can unlock a whole branch.
- Keep each person in the same format: first name, last name, birth year, birth place.

THE PROMPTS

Tell it what you know

I want to build my family tree. Here is what I know so far: [MY NAME, BIRTH YEAR, BIRTH PLACE]. My parents: [NAMES, YEARS, PLACES]. My grandparents: [NAMES, YEARS, PLACES]. Organize this into a clean family tree and list what is missing.

PROMPT 2

Let it interview you

Interview me about my family, one question at a time, until every gap in the tree is filled. Ask about brothers, sisters, marriages, and where each person lived. After each answer, update the tree.

Trace the name

Tell me about the origin of the last name [SURNAME]: what it means, what country or region it comes from, and where people with this name usually lived. Then suggest which parts of my tree to research next.

PROMPT 4Agent mode search

Use agent mode. Search free public records and census sites for [FULL NAME], born around [YEAR] in [PLACE]. List only relatives you can verify, give me the source link for each fact, and mark anything you are not sure about.

PROMPT 5Print the tree

Turn everything we found into a printable family tree, oldest generation at the top. Then write me a list of questions to ask my relatives to fill the remaining gaps.

TIPS

- Always open the source link and confirm the record before you trust a fact.
- Do not share living relatives' personal details online. Keep their birthdays and addresses private.
- Record a short video or call with an older relative while you can. Ask the same questions the prompts ask.
