THE PORTFOLIO PLANNER

5 pieces for building three samples with Claude Code, plus a planner.

Prospects can trust work they can see. This is my own planner for building three small sample sites with Claude Code and putting them on one page. No one can promise income from client work, and results vary. Mark every sample as a sample, get permission before using a real business name or photos, never copy someone else's design, and review everything Claude Code changes.

THE 5 PIECES

1. Pick three kinds of business. Choose types you would like to work with, like a cafe or a gym.
2. Build one small site for each. Mark them as samples, and get permission before using a real name.
3. Write two lines on the problem and the result you aimed for. Be honest that these are samples.
4. Put them on one page. Show each sample with its two lines so a visitor sees everything fast.
5. Send the page with every message. Only send it to businesses that fit.

MY THREE SAMPLES

Kind of business	What the site does	Done
Sample 1
Sample 3

TWO LINE NOTES

Sample	The problem	The result I aimed for
Sample 1
Sample 3

BEFORE I SEND THE PAGE

- Every sample is marked as a sample
- I have permission for any real name or photo
- I claim no results I did not get
- I only send it to businesses that fit

Educational only. My own checklist. No results promised.

Now put it in front of more people.

- I sell ready-made business lists to reach customers by email. Message me LIST.
